

- A) The Tuesday after the first Monday in November, is established as the day for the election of all elected officials for federal office, for any office of this state, for any office of a political subdivision of this state, for any bond issue or tax increase, and for any ballot [initiative, measure, or referendum] subject to the following exceptions:
  - a. Any primary election shall be held on the [first Tuesday in March];
  - b. Any runoff election shall be held on [date] following the election that gave rise to the runoff;
  - c. Any special election shall be held according to the laws of this state;
  - d. Any presidential preference primaries or caucuses shall be held on the [first Tuesday in March].

- B) No election in this state shall be scheduled for a day other than Tuesday.